ISE COMMUNITY Safeguarding @ ISE

What is Safeguarding?

Safeguarding means keeping students safe from harm. All staff and adults at ISE share responsibility for the safety and well-being of our students. Safeguarding includes the rules, plans, and actions we use to protect children and vulnerable people from physical harm, emotional harm, or neglect.

In April 2025, Thailand made into law the principles of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child. This law states that children and vulnerable people must be protected from all forms of harm.

At ISE, safeguarding includes clear ways to share concerns. Concerns can be reported to the Designated Safeguarding Lead, Mrs. Gutierrez (School Counselor), or the Safeguarding Deputy, Ms. Barbara Lujan (SEN Coordinator). Concerns may be reviewed and followed up as needed.

Students can also report concerns anonymously using QR codes displayed around the school. Any student, parent, volunteer, or staff member may ask to meet with Mrs. Gutierrez, Ms. Lujan, or the Head of School, Ms. Emily Cave, to talk about a concern.

ISE continues to be diligent in recognizing that the safety of our students is of utmost importance and we appreciate the efforts of all in the community in keeping them safe.

ISE COMMUNITY After School Activities

After-School Activities (ASA) Are Back!

🎨⚽🎵 Our After-School Activities (ASA) for both Elementary and Secondary students officially started this week!

Why are ASAs so important?

These programs play an important role in the learning process by helping students explore their interests, build new skills, and develop confidence beyond the classroom. Through sports, arts, and enrichment activities, students strengthen teamwork, creativity, responsibility, and social skills—all while having fun and forming meaningful friendships. ASA supports the whole child and encourages a love of learning in every form.

Elementary School Science KG

Kindergarten
Learning About Clouds Through Movement,
Nature, and Art

During Kindergarten Science this week, we have been learning all about weather, with a special focus on clouds.

The children began by watching a short video introducing different types of clouds. We then explored these cloud types in more depth using whole-body actions to represent each one. To bring the learning to life, the children played a lively game of cloud charades, where the teacher called out a cloud type and the children demonstrated the matching movement. This activity was full of laughter and enthusiasm, and the children thoroughly enjoyed taking part.

Whole-body learning is especially beneficial for young learners, as it helps children connect physical movement with new information. By using their bodies, children strengthen memory, improve focus, and deepen their understanding of concepts in a developmentally appropriate way. Movement-based learning also supports coordination, self-regulation, and engagement—making learning both meaningful and fun.

Elementary School LITERACY PreK 2

Next, we made cloud spotters and took our learning outdoors. The children loved using their tools to observe the sky and identify different cloud types they could see above us. Spending time outside allowed the children to explore nature firsthand while reinforcing classroom learning in an exciting, real-world context.

Back in the classroom, we enjoyed a read-aloud of “Hi, Cloud”, a story that encourages children to use their imaginations to see shapes and objects in clouds—such as animals and familiar objects. Inspired by the story, the children completed a creative activity where they observed a cloud shape on paper and shared what it looked like to them. Each child’s interpretation was unique and imaginative.

This activity beautifully connected science and art, showing the children that learning does not happen in isolation. By blending observation, storytelling, and creativity, the children were able to express their ideas, develop visual thinking skills, and build confidence in sharing their perspectives.

Secondary School English G6-8

Independent Reading at ISE!

Did you know that Grades 6-8 students at ISE read independently at the beginning of every English class? Reading for pleasure can also be supported at home. Additionally, did you know that the amount of free reading done inside and outside of school correlates with growth in reading comprehension, vocabulary, verbal fluency, and academic success? (The American Library Association).

Secondary School English G6-8

Middle school, statistically speaking, is a time when independent reading declines. This makes it even more important to promote independent reading for middle school students. Encouraging students to read books that they choose and enjoy, can be done at school and at home. Reading to or with your student, even if it is in a different language, models positive reading experiences! Evenings are an ideal time to put away screens and take out those books! Happy reading ISE!
