Week 5 Finding Our Voice

Being part of ISE means more than simply belonging to our community. It means using your voice respectfully, taking initiative, and helping to make our school stronger.

This week, our students demonstrated that leadership can take many forms—from showing gratitude during Wai Kru, to representing their peers through Student Council, to turning their own ideas into action.

Every student has something meaningful to contribute, and every positive contribution helps shape who we are as a school.

Wacky Hair Wednesday

This week, our students and staff celebrated creativity and self-expression with Wacky Hair Wednesday! From colourful styles to wonderfully wild creations, it was a fun opportunity for everyone to show their imagination, share some laughter, and bring extra energy to our school community.

Wai Kru Ceremony

This week, our ISE community came together for our annual Wai Kru Ceremony, honoring the important relationship between students and teachers. This meaningful Thai tradition gave our students an opportunity to express gratitude and respect while reminding us that learning is a shared responsibility—and that both students and teachers continue to learn from one another.

Reminder to Parents

Please call the main office to arrange pick ups after school or in case of emergencies. Students SHOULD NOT be making their own arrangements. Students cannot diagnose themselves. All official dismissals must either be arranged by the parents or the school and directly communicated among the adults, NOT the students.

Student Council News This Week

Our Student Council has had an exceptionally busy and productive start! Both our Elementary and Secondary teams have officially kicked off several inspiring projects aimed at making our school an even better place to learn and grow.

Elementary Playground Rules Voting: During our recent whole-school assembly, the Elementary StuCo ran a schoolwide voting activity to establish our official playground expectations. Thanks to everyone's participation, here are our top four rules:

- Use Kind Words: Always use nice and supportive language toward each other.
- Include Everyone: Be welcoming and invite students who are playing alone to join in.
- Keep It Clean: Trash belongs in bins—everyone is responsible for cleaning up their wrappers and food leftovers.
- Respond to the Bell: As soon as the bell rings, immediately stop games and line up with your class.

Community Initiative Highlight:

A huge shoutout to Neutron (Grade 3)! Neutron created a bilingual Thai-English nurse booklet to help her communicate more easily and comfortably with students. Fantastic work, Neutron!

Secondary Communication Project:

To improve campus-wide communication, the team officially reactivated Google Chat for students! Additionally, key announcements, events, and updates will now be displayed on the digital screens around the school.

This is just the beginning—our student leaders are hard at work, and many more positive changes are on the way. Stay tuned!
